Thank you for volunteering for AR*AC*PNP's 2018 Celebration Days!

Maryland Reads Day: Friday, April 27th, 2018
Maryland Counts Day: Friday, May 4th, 2018

About Our Celebration Days

About Maryland Reads Day:

Friday, April 27, 2018 from 7:00am - 2:00pm in the Stamp Student Union

The America Reads Program places University of Maryland students in 12 Prince George's County elementary schools to work with first and second graders on developing reading and writing skills. On Maryland Reads Day, all the children who participate in the program will come to campus for the day to celebrate their accomplishments, engage in reading and writing activities, interact with college students, and experience a college campus.

Volunteers will help with event logistics and will interact with our America Reads 1st and 2nd graders throughout the day. Activities will take place in the Grand Ball Room in Stamp. Volunteers will receive a t-shirt on the day of the event.

About Maryland Counts Day:

Friday, May 4, 2018 from 7:00am - 2:00pm in the Stamp Student Union

The America Counts Program places University of Maryland students in 8 Prince George's County elementary schools to work with fourth graders on sharpening math and problem-solving skills. On Maryland Counts Day, the 250 children that participate in the program will come to campus for the day to celebrate their accomplishments, engage in a variety of math activities, interact with college students, and experience a college campus.

The day will begin and end in the Reckord Armory, but the students will be making their way around campus and participating in math-related activities throughout the morning. Volunteers will help with event logistics and will interact with our America Counts 4th graders throughout the day. Volunteers will receive a t-shirt on the day of the event.
