Apply to be a Student Involvement Ambassador!

Who are the Involvement Ambassadors?
The Involvement Ambassadors are a Student Organization created to engage students in involvement opportunities. The purpose of the organization is to connect student leaders, provide resources to existing and potential student organizations, and connect new and current students to existing student organizations. Involvement Ambassadors will have the responsibility of educating themselves about the other organizations so that these organizations may be promoted to students. The Involvement Ambassadors aim to enhance student engagement through consultations, promotion, and providing involvement opportunities.

The work that Involvement Ambassadors do is done out of a desire to see more student involvement at Texas Tech University. Being a part of the Involvement Ambassadors is a rewarding commitment, but a commitment nonetheless. Ambassadors are expected to handle themselves professionally while representing Texas Tech.
